

Joomla 1.6 Efforts

I know everyone is busy getting there code updated and such so I didn't want to bug.

This is totally unofficial and I'm not even going to attempt to call it perfect, but it does work. I hope it can tide some of us over till the official one is released.

This is my way of thanking the author for an amazing and very useful module, thank you!

Again if there are any issue please don't bother the module author I'm sure he is busy making a much better one I can try and fix it up as need be in this thread. I have been using it on my site for a week now with no major issues so long as SEF is off.

I'm not sure what is broken in the SEF, I don't think it's this module, I think it might be in an other module on my site which is making JRoute add /lang and once this module is on it most make the same call which makes it change all links to /lang/lang which then fails. I'm still looking into that one though cause I want to use SEF.

Anyhow this will get it working for some of us and I hope this helps keep the pressure off the Author.

Hi

Thanks for this - I'm sure people will find it useful. I haven't had time to get round to a 1.6 version.

Hey,

I have just installed succesfully the module on joomla1.6. But as I see there should be a component too.

Where can I get this component for joomla 1.6?

It would be fantastic if it works with 1.6. I was searching for a extension like this for 6 weeks, but didn't found the right. This seems to be exactly the thing I need.

THX for help me ;)

Hi

The official Ajax calendar for Joomla 1.6 has now been released (24th May) and is available from the download section.

Thanks to TheSin for providing the early version - there were a couple of changes that were needed, but this was a great help.

Regards

Toni
